

REMARKS

The specification has been amended as needed so as to place this application in condition for disposal at the time of the next Official Action.

The claims previously in the case have been replaced by a set of new claims, that are believed to be proper as to form and clearly patentable over the cited references.

Reconsideration is respectfully requested, for the rejection of the claims as anticipated by GOMBRICH et al.

GOMBRICH et al. show, in Figures 2, 3 and 4, three possible movements of a television screen about horizontally spaced respective vertical axes (Figures 3 and 4), and about a horizontal axis (Figure 2).

But GOMBRICH et al. give no hint of the special arrangements of the present invention. One of those special arrangements is the provision of two horizontal arms, disposed one above the other, horizontally swingable about respective spaced vertical axes, to which the television support may be fastened for selective movement in either horizontal direction.

Another point of unobvious novelty of the present invention is the provision of three plates, one of which is swingable horizontally about those two axes and the third of which is mounted for vertical swinging movement on the second, about an axis adjacent the lower side of the second plate.

Still another feature of unobvious novelty of the present invention is the provision of the structure shown in Figure 7, by which the television set may be supported for vertical swinging movement about a horizontal axis on a second plate.

Finally, still another feature of novelty is the arrangement of Figure 8, in which the vertically superposed arms are not only swingable about horizontally spaced vertical axes, but also support between them the television set for vertical swinging movement about a horizontal axis.

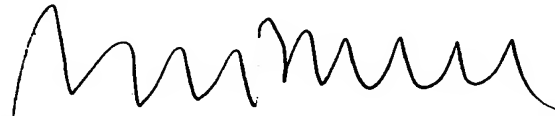

These novel and unobvious features are brought out in the new claims, which are thus believed clearly to distinguish over the applied reference.

In view of the present amendment and the foregoing Remarks, therefore, it is believed that this application has been placed in condition for allowance, and reconsideration and allowance are respectfully requested.

The Commissioner is hereby authorized in this, concurrent, and future replies, to charge payment or credit any overpayment to Deposit Account No. 25-0120 for any additional fees required under 37 C.F.R. § 1.16 or under 37 C.F.R. § 1.17.

Respectfully submitted,
